My Home and my Car with the same Insurer

All insurance companies want the same thing – to insure both your car and your home. This being the case, it is important to check with your broker and find out what these companies can offer you.

Depending on the insurer, here are a few of the advantages you can enjoy:

- You can obtain a premium reduction on your insurance policies.
- There is only one deductible if you have an incident that involved both policies.
- You can profit from free additional benefits with your car insurance.
- You can obtain benefits such as identity theft insurance along with your residential insurance.
- You can pay your premiums in monthly instalments without any fees.
