

Personal Insurance / Aviation insurance

Territorial extent

The aircraft insurance contract generally applies within or on route to the geographical territories representing Canada, the French islands of Saint-Pierre and Miquelon, the Republic of Mexico, the Bahamas, the Caribbean islands or the continental United States including Alaska. Limits may be applied. It is important to read the "Nature and extent of the coverage" section of your insurance contract.